SCH. INGOMAR IN.

Has Second Largest Mackerel Fare of the Season.

At Fulton Market With 200 Barrels of Mediums.

A special to the TIMES this afternoon announces the arrival at Fulton Market, New York, of sch. Ingomar, Capt. Wallace Parsons, of this port, with 200 barrels of fresh medium mackerel. This is the second largest fare landed this year.

As the Ingomar is a fast sailer she is probably the advance guard of the fleet with good fares, which Capts. Morgan and Cameron reported at Fortress Monroe this morning, as bound to New York for market.

Sch. Patrician, Capt. C. Wesley Farmer, arrived at New York this forenoon with 150 barrels fresh medium mackerel.

GOOD FISHING AT CHANNEL.

Ice Is Now Moving Off from the Fishing Grounds.

The St. John's, N. F., Herald of April 9 says:

"Inspector O'Reilly wired the Fisheries Department on Saturday that on Friday at Basque, Randell Fudge, master of sch. Mattie, and George Kearley, of sch. Valoria, were charged before Magistrate Small with violating of the fishery rules by using builtows on the fishing grounds, and were each fined $30. The Gloucester schooner Elector took 90 qtls. Friday. The ice that interfered with fishing operations was moving off Saturday. All captains of crafts are complaining of want of regulations and rules respecting the fishery. Things are going along all right just now.

HAD ROUGH WEATHER.

Sch. Susan and Mary Reaches Boston with Large Fresh Fish Trip.

Sch. Susan and Mary, Capt. Wilfred Roberts, arrived at Boston this morning with a large fare of 110,000 pounds fresh mixed fish, having been absent nearly four weeks on her trip. The skipper reports bad weather with heavy seas, the craft having had four dories smashed besides her sails torn.

One of the crew was knocked down by a huge wave during the trip, and was rendered unconscious for a time, besides being quite badly hurt, but when the vessel reached Boston had apparently recovered.

BEST TRIP YET.

Sch. Priscilla Smith Has Large and Small Fish.

Several Other Fares Also at Fulton Dock Today.

The best mackerel trip of the season reached New York yesterday, when sch. Priscilla Smith, Capt. William J. Corkum, shot up into Fulton Market dock with 9000 large fish and 8000 small fish, all fresh. This is a dandy fare, and as only one trip of big fish has been landed previously, these are much wanted and will bring a fine price. The market on small fish is also reported to be a little better.

Yesterday afternoon two more trips reached New York, sch. Helen G. Wells, Capt. Firth, arriving with 90 barrels of small fresh mackerel and sch. Annie M. Parker, Capt. Douglass McLean, arriving with 130 barrels of small fish.

Sch. Ingomar, Capt. Wallace Parsons, stocked $1965.52 as the result of her recent mackerel trip at New York a few days ago.

Sch. Nourmahal, Capt. Albert McDonald, arrived at New York this forenoon with 25,000 small fresh mackerel.

Sch. Saladin, Capt. Flar McKown, arrived at New York this forenoon with her second trip of the season, with 3000 large fresh mackerel and 10,000 small fresh mackerel.

April 20.

Seined a Trip of Pollock.

Frank Stanwood's gasoline fishing steamer Bryda F., Capt. Al Sadler, came in yesterday with 12,000 pounds of pollock, the trip being seined in one haul off Boston Bay lightship. This is the first pollock fare of the season here.

Bait News.

The run of alewives at Edgartown Monday and Tuesday nights was 35,000 fish in count.
